

Selfie Tour

You can't visit or live in L.A. without taking a few selfies and we've got the hottest spots.

Dire Wolf Wall Museum

An entire wall of Dire Wolf skulls makes for an aesthetic and scientific background.

Evolution Painting Museum

Looking for something more vintage? This mural was painted when the museum first opened in 1977. If you listen carefully, you can even hear the soothing sounds of a science lecture.

Saber-toothed Cat Museum

This selfie spot is the cat's meow.

Sloth Statues Outdoors

If you take a selfie with these statues and tag us at @thelabreatarpits you might just go viral.

Lake Pit bridge with mammoths and museum in the background Outdoors

For a more panoramic pic, take a selfie at the Lake Pit bridge.
